

Science on DNA and the Connection to the Harmonics of Vibrational Sound and Color

Of late, geneticists have begun to address the DNA (NOT the Brain) as our Bio-Computer. It can be hypothesized that, in order to set the “bioenergy system” in an optimal way, it is vital to access the source of electromagnetic malfunction in our genetic code. To facilitate this, it is essential to employ special sounds and intention.

According to Dr. Valerie Hunt, the author of “Infinite Mind: Science of the Human Vibration of Consciousness”, the mind actually exists at the dimension of electromagnetic fields, rather than residing in the brain. Natalie Dobrova believes that an individual’s system comprising organs has its own electromagnetic rhythm. Disruption in this cellular symphony signifies disease.

DNA is regarded as the master blueprint for our biology. Vedas states that “In the beginning was Brahman with whom was the WORD. A parallel for this can be found in the New Testament where John states “In the beginning was the WORD”. A reference in Genesis 1:3 reads “and God said, Let there be light, And there was light”. All this points to the potential of LIGHT (electromagnetic waves) and SOUND (electromagnetic waves) on DNA and their EXPRESSION.

Horowitz, the author of “DNA: Pirates of the sacred spiral”, states that the research carried out by neurophysiologists has clearly shown the following: “One-third of the sensory-cortex area of the brain is fully devoted to the oral cavity, tongue, lips and speech”. This implies that bioacoustic waves (oral frequency emissions - spoken or sung) have tremendous impact over life and vibrating genes which in turn influences total wellness of individuals and probably affect evolution of our species.

Further to this, a Russian research team of geneticists and linguists have scientifically documented the ability of SOUND and LIGHT to heal DNA.

The use of the voice, the visualization of light (including the color spectrum) together with diaphragmatic breathing and conscious intent is the basis of the system of vibrational sound and color which Elias De Mohan brought into being for the purpose of personal transformation leading to connection with SOUL CONSCIOUSNESS. This system can have a powerful impact on creating deeper meaning in life and lead to a state of what is known as “detached involvement” that allows a person to be fully in the “HERE AND NOW”. Elias stated that: “If you don’t change the past in the present, your future will be your past”. What a disturbing thing to ponder on.
